Tennis Racket & String Demo Day

Saturday, September 15

10:00 – 11:30am

Racket Ready, String Savvy

This next question comes from FCTC member Alan Kelley: "Why do my cross strings break before my mains? Answer: If you hit with even a moderate amount of topspin, it's a constant race between the main strings and the crosses as to which will break first. The repeated rubbing friction between the strings causes the mains to notch and the crosses to get shaved down at their intersections. If either (or both) is a multifilament string, it may also "fray" before it fails. In cases where the mains are a polyester and the crosses a softer synthetic gut or multifilament, the cross string will often break before the mains. Our stringing team of Kin and Ada are available to provide you with the best club stringing service in a timely manner. Email Kin at kin@mwtennisacademy.com with questions and for insight into how to customize your racket stringing.
