Racket Ready, String Savvy

Question of the Week: How often should I string my racket? In general, you should re-string a racket as many times in a year as you play in a week. Take into consideration these factors as well:

Length of time each time we play

Some play 90 minutes a week and others 2+ hours/day everyday.

Doubles, Singles or a mixture of both

Singles play 3-4 times a week results in hitting a lot more balls than playing doubles.

Players hit very differently

Some hit with tremendous pace, others with much less. Some hit flat, others hit with slice & topspin.

Big differences in string type

String choice will affect playability and longevity.

Weather conditions play a role

Heat and humidity are no friend to strings nor is cold weather.

Sensitivity to string tension loss

A player with a keen sense of feel can tell when shots are "off" and know it's time to re-string. Others less sensitive will only re-string when strings break or after years of play, whichever comes first. Our stringing team of Kin and Ada are available to provide you with the best club stringing service in a timely manner.

USTA South Carolina Award

USTA South Carolina awarded Family Circle Tennis Center the 2018 Member Facility of the year at annual meeting in Hilton Head. Thank you to our members who are a vital part of making FCTC a great place to work and play tennis.

USTA Annual and Captains Meeting

Mark your calendars for Thursday, January 3, 2019 from 6:00 to 8:00 pm at the Daniel Island Club, 600 Island Park Drive, Charleston, SC 29492 for this meeting. For more information, visit www.lctatennis.org.

Have a Heart for the Children

There is still time to drop off an item on the MUSC Child Life Atrium Wish List. To view the complete list including toys, books, and arts and crafts, stop in the Pro Shop and pick up a reminder heart as we share directly from the heart with the children undergoing treatment. Visit www.imagine.musckids.org to see what is possible for the children. Thank you in advance for your generosity.
